Artist Bernadette Thebeau works on an oil painting in her studio at home.

Artists show off their work

Show to open at gallery here

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Local artists will get a chance to show off their work at an art show at Linda's Gallery in Granite City. The annual show, which opens at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 29, will feature seven local artists, four of them from Granite City. The show will continue through May 27, although some of the works will be gone after the first week. Granite City artists participating are Eva Meadows, Larry Smothers, Bernadette Thebeau and Susan Walton. Other artists involved are Granite City High School art teacher Tony Bettencourt of St. Louis, Tom Hahn of Swansea and Ginny Rose of Belleville.

"These are all very good artists," gallery owner Linda Harris said. "People do not realize what they are doing, and it gives the artists a chance to show some of their work."

Thebeau, who will exhibit oil paintings, pencil drawings and a mixed-media piece, said shows like these help showcase local artists.

"I'm an emerging artist, so it's important to me," she said.

Thebeau is also the show's organizer.

"I started working on it in February," she said. "April seemed to be the best time because in the summer the art shows start coming on fast and furious."

One of those getting caught up in the art shows is Smothers, who will exhibit oils with a Western theme.

However, because of other upcoming shows, Smothers said his work would only be exhibited for about one week. After that, he will be exhibiting in other shows almost every weekend.

"Starting in May it's the busy time of the year," she said.

Braun pledges fight for Price

By Bob Slato
Staff writer

If the Charles Melvin Price U.S. Army Support Center is closed, who will provide services to the 50 or so federal agencies currently supported by the base?

That is the question Col. Mike Sloan, commander of the Price Center, posed Monday afternoon during a tour of the Granite City Army installation.

U.S. Sen. Carol Moseley-Braun, on hand for the tour, was among officials who had testified last week before the defense department's Base Realignment and Closure Commission. Also testifying were Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra and other local officials.

BRAC commissioners are currently considering a defense department recommendation to close or realign 146 military installations across the country, including the Price Center here. BRAC is to make recommendations to President Bill Clinton by July 1.

Moseley-Braun promised to fight to keep the local base open.

"We intend to fight this all the way," she said.

"The Price Center has an impact on military value and return on investment that DoD failed to find," Moseley-Braun said.

"You have to look at the impacts (of closure) and realize the whole is greater than the sum of its parts," she said, a reference to the various federal agencies supported by Price.

Sloan said Monday that the defense department linked Price with the Army's Aviation and Troop Command in St. Louis and does not understand the full scope of services provided by the Price Center.

"Only one-quarter of our support is for ATCOM... It seems that they don't quite have all the facts of what we do here," Sloan told Moseley-Braun.

Retired Gen. John "Jack" Griffith, who is heading the drive to save the Price Center, agreed with Sloan.

"Col. Sloan is absolutely right. The Army did not consider all that is done here," Griffith said Monday afternoon.

The Price Center provides transportation, education, supply and other community services to 30 non-tenant organizations as well as 25 agencies located on-base, Sloan said. The base contains a total of 164 family housing units, including 100 constructed in 1990. Price Center houses a commissary, post exchange, credit union.

Recount this week in Pontoon election

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The three losing trustee candidates for the Pontoon Beach village board have filed for a discovery recount in the April 4 election.

Although some observers say it is unlikely the recount will produce any change in the results, a difference of even one trustee would alter the balance of the board.

According to Madison County Clerk Debbie Sattich, the recount will be conducted today, Wednesday, April 19, at the Madison County Clerk's office in Edwardsville.

She said the request was filed April 11. A total of nine precincts will be recounted. Those nine will include almost all of the voters in the April 4 election.

In the election, three candidates from the United For Progress party — incumbent Irene Karlechik and newcomers Randy Presswood and Gus Falter — were elected. The defeated candidates, from the Village Improvement Party, were incumbents Janet Barringer and Bill Rose, and former trustee Donald McNew.

"We're going to check the vote and see what happens," McNew said.

The difference in vote totals between the lowest winning candidate and the top losing candidates are only 16 votes.

Totals for the trustee races were: Karlechik — 494, Presswood — 465, Falter — 456, Barringer and Rose — 440, and McNew — 433.

The election shifted the balance of power from Mayor Glen Wilson to Trustee Mike Macek even though Wilson defeated Macek for the mayor's post in the election.

Clayborne pledges 'open door'

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Sen. James F. Clayborne Jr. of Belleville headed to Springfield Monday, just hours after taking the oath of office to replace the late Sen. Kenneth Hall.

Clayborne, sworn in by 20th Judicial Circuit Chief Judge Stephen M. Kernan, said being appointed to the post was an honor, especially in light of Hall's service.

"Senator Hall was a man of great integrity. He stood tall in this community and touched many lives, including mine," Clayborne said.

Amidst family, friends and co-workers in the jam-packed County Board Room, he said he would work hard to fight for issues that affect the residents of the 57th District.

A former St. Clair County assistant state's attorney, Clayborne said he will focus on crime, taxes and economic development.

Court fight over trailer is delayed

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A change in the political winds has led to a delay in a lawsuit between a Pontoon Beach stable owner and the village.

The legal battle over a mobile home owned by Keso "Kelly" Arnold at Gateway Stables in Pontoon Beach will continue for at least another month after the trial date in the case was reset for early May.

However, Arnold said she is hoping that the new village board will be more understanding and grant her a special use permit for the trailer.

"I'm hoping I fare better under the new regime," she said Monday.

Arnold owns Gateway Stables at 3514 Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach. The business can board up to 26 horses and offers riding lessons. She has been trying to get official permission to keep the trailer on the business' five acres since July when the trailer arrived.

She said the trailer is used to store items that cannot be kept in the barn because of the dust, and as a shelter for the caretakers at night. She cited several recent stable thefts in the area as a need for having someone there at night.

Since the trailer arrived, Arnold has been issued citations to remove the trailer, and the matter has gone to court, before the Pontoon Beach Zoning Board and before the Pontoon Beach Board of Trustees.

In September, the village filed a lawsuit citing Arnold with village ordinance violating. A trial had been set for April 11, but a continuance was granted at Arnold's request.

In December, Arnold's request for a special use permit failed to get the necessary two-thirds vote from the board.

The request required a two-thirds, or four of the six trustees, vote because at least 75 percent of the adjoining landowners to Arnold's property signed a petition objecting to the placement of the mobile home.

The vote failed 3-2. Voting for the variance were Trustees Mike Macke, Irene Karlechik and Bob Able. Voting against it were Bill Ross and Bob Vincent. Trustee Janet Barringer was absent.

In the April elections, two new trustees, Randy Presswood and Gus Falter, said they are sympathetic. Combined with Macke, Karlechik and Able, Arnold said she is hoping for a 5-1 vote when the matter comes up.

Attorney Irv Slate, who represents Arnold, described the case as "a $100,000 piece of litigation for a $5,000 mobile home."

Attorney Keith Jensen could not be reached for comment.

Tax refunds taking longer

Taxpayers got two extra days to file this year, but they are also waiting longer for federal tax refunds.

"It's taking up to 10 weeks for refunds to get here. That's almost double what it usually takes," said Evelyn Elmore, supervisor for an H&R Block office in Alton.

The holdup is a result of the Internal Revenue Service's recent efforts to verify Social Security numbers with the Social Security Administration, she said. Numbers must be checked to make sure people are not claiming an exemption under a false name.

This year the IRS is cracking down to combat refund fraud, although most discrepancies result from honest mistakes, said Bill Rivkin, IRS public affairs specialist.

"The biggest problem is people getting married and not changing the name on their Social Security cards," he said.

This is the first year the IRS is holding refunds until discrepancies are cleared up, Rivkin said.

"We've always done this, but usually it was after the fact."

Taxpayers who claim earned income credit face even longer waits for refunds, Elmore said.

Low-income families are eligible for more earned income credit for each dependent child, and the program has been vulnerable to fraud, she said.

"A few years ago when the IRS started requiring Social Security numbers for each dependent child, 7 million dependents vanished," he said.

State income tax returns seem to be arriving without unusual delays, she said.

"The average for getting refunds back has been six weeks, but for those filing at the end, now that will stretch out to eight to 10 weeks," said Mike Klemons, Illinois Department of Revenue spokesman.

State fighting Amtrak cuts

SPRINGFIELD — The state is negotiating with Amtrak in an effort to derail at least some planned service cuts.

"We are going to work to change the outcome," said Martha Scheibel, spokeswoman for the Illinois Department of Transportation. "It is too early to tell what is going to happen."

Amtrak announced plans earlier to eliminate a third of the service between Alton and Chicago in June.

Two trains daily will continue Alton-Chicago service, leaving 14 round trips each week.

Illinois already gives Amtrak about $3 million each year, but Amtrak officials say they are willing to compromise on cuts if the state is willing to kick in more money.

"We are happy to talk to the states about maintaining services if the states will pick up our operational losses," Amtrak spokeswoman Erin Clarke said.

Nationwide, Amtrak lost more than $76 million last year. Clarke said without past cuts and newest announced cutbacks the financially troubled service would have had a $240 million shortfall this year.

U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin said, "If we are not prepared to make a national commitment to passenger rail service, quite frankly it will be very limited in scope."

Durbin has been pushing for high-speed passenger service in the Chicago-St. Louis corridor. Another $3.7 million for an environmental impact study of high-speed rail is in Gov. Jim Edgar's budget for next fiscal year.

An Alton advocate for rail passengers said Amtrak should focus on selling its service, not cutting it.

"By removing a third of a third of the ridership," said David Randall, the vice president of the Illinois Association of Railroad Passengers, "they could be selling a lot more seats if they had better advertising."

New road opens to SIUE facility

Access to University Park at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville improved Thursday with the opening of an extension of University Park Drive.

The 2,950-foot extension provides an east entrance to the on-campus business-technology park from Illinois 157. The only access to the park had been through the SIUE campus.

The road joins 3,100 feet of roadway and other existing infrastructure, making 150 acres of University Park accessible for development.

Thiemi Construction Co. of Edwardsville was the general contractor for the project. A dedication ceremony was held at noon Thursday.

SIUE has developed the park with nonuniversity state funding and is offering long-term leases of land to companies that build their own structures.

2 arrested on drug charges

Two area residents wanted by Madison police for illegal possession of controlled substances were arrested in separate incidents Thursday.

One of the two, Raymond Earl Hunter, 34, of the 200 block of West Second St., Madison, could face additional charges after police found what they suspect is crack cocaine.

Hunter and Melinda G. Coleman, 32, of the 4000 block of Kathy Drive, Pontoon Beach, were both being held at the Madison County jail. Bail for each was set at $50,000.

Hunter was arrested after officers saw him riding a bicycle at the intersection of 6th and Washington streets at about 10:25 p.m. Thursday.

During a property inventory at the police station, police discovered two large chips of suspected crack cocaine.

Additional charges may be filed after lab results are returned.

Coleman was arrested Thursday by Pontoon Beach officers at the request of the Madison Police Department.

Children's Miracle Network to benefit Craft show this weekend

A show to benefit the Children's Miracle Network is coming to the Granite City Wal-Mart this weekend.

From 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Wal-Mart will have its annual craft fair and variety show to raise money for the Children's Miracle Network.

All crafters are welcome. The booth fee of $5 is to be part of the donation.

Monies will be accepted in the "wishing well" by the variety show stage as well. There will be food vendors available.

The Children's Miracle Network was established in 1982 to conduct an annual telethon event for the benefit of hospitals that serve children. The most remarkable aspect of the Children's Miracle Network is that 100 percent of the money raised has gone directly to the participating hospitals, and it has stayed in the community in which it was donated.

In St. Louis, these funds equally benefit Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital and St. Louis Children's Hospital, which combined, treat more than 400,000 area children each year. The 1995 donations will assist the Emergency Communications and Information Center at St. Louis Children's Hospital. The funds will also support the Pediatric Research Institute at Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital.

The variety show will be emceed by "Jeff and Lori" of Granite City with Music Magic. This group has a different twist on entertainment. All age groups find something to like in their presentation.

"Jeff and Lori" have been associated with several functions at the AMVETS Post 204 in Madison and are the opening act for the Fourth of July festivities at 7 p.m. June 30 at Wilson Park in Granite City.

Brian Ballard of Granite City will be amazing children and adults alike with his magic. He has appeared with, and comes highly recommended by, Ozzy Smith. Ballard has a way of giving ordinary objects a new appearance in his routine.

"Boots" Asperger, the singing, evangelist, has among her achievements, earned a place in the St.

"Jeff and Lori"

Louis Women's Symphony Orchestra. She is an ordained minister and is performing chaplain's duties at Colonades Nursing Home in Granite City on Wednesday mornings and Sunday evenings. Asperger will be sharing her musical talent with the group.

A fine country sound from Chris Krause of Pontoon Beach, who has made it to Nashville, Tenn., and the Grand Ole Opry stage, will also appear. Also on the agenda is Mar T. "The Professional Nerd" Ray of Granite City, a comedian. You may have seen him on television advertising the Metro-Link.

Selph proclaims April Alcohol Awareness Month

Recognizing that underage drinking is the number one drug problem among the nation's youth, Mayor Ron Selph joined with Dr. Lee P. Brown, director of the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy, and St. Elizabeth Medical Center to proclaim April "Alcohol Awareness Month."

In the proclamation, Mayor Selph wrote, "As the mayor, I also call upon all citizens, parents, governmental agencies, public and private institutions, businesses, hospitals and schools in the city of Granite City to join me in 'drawing the line' against underage drinking."

Mayor Selph also recognized other facts about alcohol which led him to make this proclamation:

- ✓ The use of alcohol is associated with the leading cause of death and injury among youth, including motor vehicle crashes, homicides and suicides.

- ✓ Juvenile crime, violence and poor academic performance are closely linked with underage drinking.

- ✓ Purchase of alcohol by people under the age of 21 is illegal in all 50 states.

- ✓ Approximately two-thirds of teenagers who drink still report they can buy their own alcoholic beverages.

- ✓ Passage of other laws to reduce underage drinking and enforcement of those laws is a community and state responsibility.

The use of alcohol is associated with the leading cause of death and injury among youth, including motor vehicle crashes, homicides and suicides.

Alzheimer's support group plans meeting

A support group for those whose families or friends have been touched by Alzheimer's disease has been formed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The group will meet from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Thursday, April 20, in the President's Room, inside Bonaventure's Cafeteria, on the ground floor of the medical center, 2100 Madison Ave., in Granite City. The group meets the third Thursday of each month, at the same time and location. All meetings are open to community members.

The group focuses on addressing the questions and concerns of care-givers and family members of people with Alzheimer's disease.

The disease brings with it an enormous amount of stress, tension and a demand for a level of care most people cannot imagine.

St. Elizabeth wants to provide education and support for caregivers. They can provide appropriate referrals to community resources and let people know what is available to them. By sharing experiences, they can also find out what to expect and ways to manage difficult behaviors. By hearing about other people's experiences, participants get a chance to compare what is happening, to see what is normal behavior for Alzheimer's patients.

Because Alzheimer's disease has such a profound effect on families and caregivers, support groups play a crucial role in helping everyone affected to deal with the disease.

"One of the most important aspects of coping with the disease is for the family members to know they are not alone," said Kathy Higley, executive director of the St. Louis Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association. "There is help and local support groups are among the most effective ways to find it."

The Alzheimer's Support Group at SEMC has access to information and literature on Alzheimer's ranging from updates on research to everyday suggestions on how families can cope. It also serves as an education role for those whose family members were recently diagnosed. The group is affiliated with the National Alzheimer's Association.

Man celebrates Easter with new heart

By Mark Hodapp
Staff writer

Ernie Meyer can only grin. Only 19 days ago, the Fairview Heights resident successfully underwent a heart transplant at St. Louis University Hospital. Meyer, 49, returned home Wednesday and is slowly starting to see his life return back to normal.

Meyer celebrated Easter Sunday with his wife, Millie. The couple was married 22 years ago.

"I wouldn't have made it without (her)," Ernie said Thursday. Meyer is also starting to return to his exercise routine. He walked on his treadmill 20 minutes Wednesday. Prior to his transplant, Meyer ran and lifted weights as a part of his daily routine. He hopes to return to those exercises and start scuba diving within the next six months.

Meyer's appetite is also coming back.

"We are going to have barbecued pork steaks, there is no doubt about that," he said.

It was only six years ago when Meyer learned that he would need a heart transplant. His doctors informed him then that he had congestive heart failure.

While Meyer does not know for certain, he believes his father died of the same illness.

Meyer, who retired as a special agent with the Defense Department in 1994, was devastated upon hearing the news.

Before hearing the diagnosis, Meyer suspected that he was only suffering a cold. In reality, Meyer had a virus of an unknown origin that damaged his heart.

Meyer said his health started to deteriorate this past year.

"And during the last three months, I lost a lot of strength and weight," he said.

Meyer's weight dropped from 235 pounds to 176.

He also struggled going up and down the stairs in his house.

As it turns out, Meyer's stomach had completely shut down.

Meyer credits his quick recovery to the donor's heart.

"It was almost a perfect match," he said.

Meyer does not know who his donor was or where he lived. He does know the donor was 21 years old who did not use drugs or alcohol.

Meyer will spend the rest of his life on anti-rejection medication. Starting next month, he will undergo physical therapy three times a week.

But Meyer looks forward to the future challenges that he will now face.

"The Good Lord gave me a strong supporting cast," he said.

Cardiologist to discuss cholesterol

The April Ostomy Support Group meeting will feature internist and cardiologist Dr. George Williams, who will be discussing "Cholesterol, Diet and You," focusing on cholesterol's effects on the blood vessels.

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, April 25, in the President's Room, on the ground floor inside Bonaventure's Cafeteria, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., in Granite City. Refreshments will be served.

Dr. Williams received his medical degree from the Medical College of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. He served his fellowship in cardiology at St. Louis University School of Medicine and performed research and taught at St. Louis University for 17 years. He is board certified in internal medicine and cardiology. He has authored articles for the Journal of the American College of Cardiology, the American Journal of Cardiology, Heart Transplant, Circulation and the American Journal of Cardiology. He has made national and international presentations on cardiac topics.

Tony Brown to speak at SIUE banquet

Tony Brown, television journalist and commentator and a syndicated columnist, will be the guest speaker at the Sixth Annual Graduation and Awards banquet sponsored by the Organization of Minority Business Students (OMBS) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The banquet is scheduled Saturday, April 22, beginning at 8:30 p.m. in the conference center of the University Center. Proceeds from the event will support the W.A. Boho Memorial Scholarship Fund sponsored by OMBS. Tickets are $15 for students and $20 for non-students.

Acclaimed "one of the most dynamic, thought-provoking speakers of our times," Brown was the recipient of the 1994 Communicator of the Year Award by the national board of trustees of the Sales and Marketing Executives International Academy. Brown also received the academy's 1993 Ambassador of Free Enterprise Award. His first book titled "No Black Lies, Only the Truth," will be published in September.

Tickets and information are available by contacting Lamar Thomas in the School of Business at 692-3840.

New dump sites for containers of pesticide

Farmers will have more chances to safely dispose of empty pesticide containers under an expanded Illinois Department of Agriculture program.

Statewide, the collection schedule has been increased to 82 sites from 69 in 1994.

In Madison County, a disposal has been scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 1 at Bergmann-Taylor in St. Jacob.

"The increase in the number of sites will make it easier for farmers to take part in the Pesticide Container Recycling Program, which provides a safe and economical way to discard empty, agricultural containers," State Agriculture Director Becky Doyle said.

The program accepts only clean, properly rinsed and dried high-density plastic agricultural containers. All caps, labels, booklets and seals must be removed.

Last year the program gathered 128,700 containers, more than double the amount collected in 1993.

Most of the plastic is recycled into fuel for cement kilns or used to develop prototype products such as highway guardrails, hazardous waste drums and plastic drainage tubing.

IDOT opens bids on projects

The Illinois Department of Transportation has opened bids on more than 120 projects throughout the state, including one such in Madison and Pontoon Beach.

Contracts should be awarded in two to three weeks, after IDOT officials have a chance to examine the proposals, according to an IDOT spokesman.

The two local projects are the replacement of the existing bridge on Horseshoe Lake Road over the Cahokia Canal in Pontoon Beach, and the replacement of the existing traffic signals at the intersection of Illinois 3 and Blissett Avenue in Madison.

Barton Construction Co. of South Roxana was the lowest of three bidders for the Pontoon Beach project, coming in at $491,430. A Ciesco firm, J.F. Edwards Construction Co., was the lowest of four bidders for the Madison project at $59,525.

The bids were opened April 14. The project list included 130 highway, six abandoned mine and 13 airport projects.

Make noise about loan cuts, Durbin tells students

Colleagues need to become one voice against proposed cuts in student loan programs for they may be priced out of higher education, U.S. Rep. Richard Durbin says.

"In the 1960s we made a lot of noise, but we made an impact," the Springfield Democrat told about 125 students, faculty and officials Tuesday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"Students need to get it together and get organized. They need to speak with one voice so they can have an impact."

"They need to do it again," Durbin said. "I hope Democrat, Republican and independent students will get together and not just say they have to get to their next class. They need to get it organized and get it moving. Now is the time."

Durbin led a rooming discussion on the GOP's proposed tax-cut package that the House passed last week, which includes billions of dollars in tuition aid. He was joined by SIUE President Nancy Belch, financial aid director Marian Smithson and faculty senate president John Farley, among others.

Congress is considering eliminating the interest exemption on Stafford Interest-Deferred Student Loans, which would require students to pay interest on their loans while still in college.

Legislators also may kill Perkins Student Loans, the College Work Study program and Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants, Durbin said. Government loans and grants are the only sources of college financing for many students, Durbin said, adding that federal aid got him through college and law school. "There was nowhere else to turn."

He called the proposed cuts "absolutely alarming." Smithson said 5,320 students, or half of the college's enrollment, receive $21 million in financial aid annually, $15 million being loans.

The proposed cuts would remove 200 of 323 students enrolled in the federal work study program, she said. The average SIUE student owes $14,500 in loans at graduation, she said.

Durbin said 3,127 SIUE students receive Stafford Loans and 453 get Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants.

He estimated the tax package would add nearly $13 billion nationwide to the cost of going to college over five years. However, the nation's deficit would still increase by $180 billion over the next five years and $500 billion in the next 10 years, he said.

The proposed cuts especially limit educational opportunities for minorities and low-income students, he said. It's ironic that Republicans want to get people off welfare rolls and onto payrolls, he said.

"If we want to move people off welfare, we can't cut the legs out from under them," Durbin said.

SIUE junior Amos Coates of East St. Louis said: "A lot of African-Americans feel these cuts are a direct slap in the face of African-Americans. Many of us would not be able to go to college without financial aid. Many of my contemporaries are the first in their families to go to college."

Patrick Ferrillo, dean of the SIUE School of Dental Medicine in Alton, said the proposed cuts would be "even more alarming for professional students" who have to pay for four more years of education beyond the undergraduate level. When it comes time to balance the budget, students should expect more cuts, Durbin said. "They'll be back. The money they are raising for the tax package is a little splash. The balanced budget will be a big wave."

Durbin conceded that students should not be given loans larger than they need and should realize the importance of paying their debts.

Former Tigers star as Bears

You can call the Southwest Missouri State baseball team the Tigers. Or call them the Edwardsville Bears.

I've looked at box scores from SMSU baseball games recently and found myself doing what Edwardsville High baseball coach Tom Pile gets to do — look for the achievements of former EHS players.

AT A GLANCE, there's senior shortstop Dave Stiemmer, junior pitcher Joe Blasingim, junior catcher J.J. Scerba and freshman second baseman Jesse Bugger.

No need to note that in the early going of the 1995 season each had contributed, with Blasingim gaining three of the team's first nine wins while the others piled up playing time and at-bats.

Even in a 6-4 loss at Evansville in the second game of a doubleheader on March 25, Stiemmer and Bugger excelled. Stiemmer had two singles, a double and a stolen base, while Bugger singled and doubled to account for five of SMSU's 11 hits.

Scerba remains entrenched in the No. 5 spot in the batting order in his third season as a starting catcher. In a recent 7-0 victory over Southern Mississippi, he was 2-for-4 while guiding Blasingim to a crafty nine-hit victory.

After 19 games and a 12-7 record for SMSU, Scerba was batting .367 with 18 hits, including six doubles and a home run for 12 RBIs. Stiemmer was at the .407 mark with seven homers and 26 RBIs while getting 33 hits and scoring runs in 10 games played.

Bugger had two doubles and two homers states 400 batting average in 11 games, while Blasingim posted a 3.29 earned run average after compiling a 3-1 record with 24 strikeouts, 13 walks and 25 hits allowed in 27 1/3 innings.

OVERTIME: Congratulations are in order for Tony Edgar, the basketball coach of the eighth-grade boys team at Marie Schaefer Junior High in O'Fallon.

According to a recent announcement by the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association, Edgar has been chosen Coach of the Year for District 19 and will be one of 21 district coaches throughout the state recognized at the Association's Hall of Fame dinner April 29 at Illinois State University in Bloomington.

A graduate of Belleville Althoff, Edgar has compiled an amazing 100-28 record in five seasons at Marie Schaefer, including a 24-2 overall record in 1994-95.

In addition to winning a third straight eighth-grade Tri-County Conference crown this season, Marie Schaefer finished third in the state Class "L" finals.

The team also won the O'Fallon Invitational and O'Fallon Tournament of Champions, with a win over Belleville Queen of Peace in the latter tourney among the memorable highlights.

In its conference, Marie Schaefer has won 30 of its last 81 games.

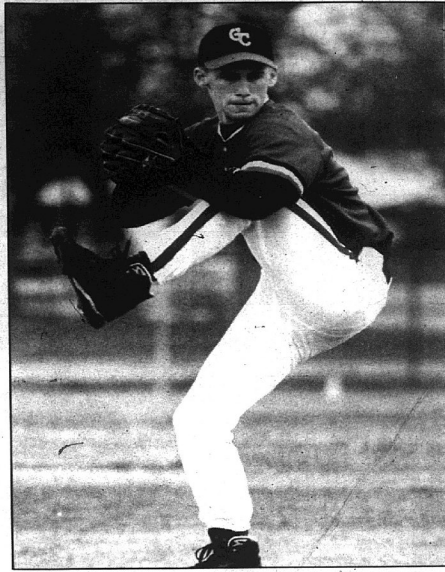

No wonder Tony has license plates reading: "I Coach 5."

NET NOTE: Among my favorite final statistics recorded by Erwin Claggett of St. Louis U. via Venice were: leading the Billkins in scoring 16 times during a 28-3 season; and averaging 18.2 points per game with a total of 584 points to finish his four-year career with 1,910 points — No. 2 to all-time scoring leader Anthony Bonner at 1,978.

From three-point range, Clag connected on 103 of 246 shots for 41.9 percent — a figure just as impressive as his 71 of 88 free throws for .807.

A joy to watch at Venice High, the 6-1 guard helped account for an average attendance of 17,714 at 16 games at the Kiel Center, where the Bills set a school record with 10,605 season ticket holders.

Warrior pitcher Billy Niepert unwinds. Granite City is scheduled to play host to DeSmet at 7 p.m. tonight.

Revelle to skate in Olympic camp

Travis Revelle, a 15-year-old resident of Granite City, has been selected to represent St. Louis in a training camp at the United States Olympic Hockey Education Center at Northern Michigan University.

REVELLE, ONE OF eight forwards selected from St. Louis, will spend a week training and competing with other skaters from around the country at the camp, scheduled to take place in late June in Marquette, Mich.

Revelle will take part in several games and join other players on teams formed by coaches at the camp.

A member of the Triple-A St. Louis Junior Blues this year, Revelle is a 6-foot-2, 212-pound winger. He is a freshman at Chaminade High School in St. Louis, where he played for the Flyers' Mid-State Club Hockey Association varsity team last season.

Four career firsts in Clark Racing opener at Tri-City

By Steve Birmingham
Correspondent

Four drivers scored career firsts Saturday on the opening night of Tri-City Speedway's $200,000 Clark Racing Series.

Gary Hayhurst jumped pole-sitter Wayne Sternbergh at the drop of the green and sped to his first career SKOAL Racing Sprint Car victory on Tri-City's lightning-fast half-mile. Hayhurst led every lap en route to his win, with Sternbergh never drawing close enough to challenge.

Last year's champion, Tommy Scott, and Randy Martin waged a spirited battle for third with Martin catching Scott for the position midway through the event. Scott repassed Martin to take the spot for good. Rounding out the top five were Martin and Tod Bishop.

A KNOCK-DOWN drag-out fight was waged in the Budweiser Grand American Modified topper, with Tom Seels delivering the knockout punch with eight laps to go. Tony Palmer made quick work of pole-sitter Wayne Downing and was dogged by 1994 Super Sportsman champion Bobby Bittle and Seels. Bittle made several attempts at Palmer but couldn't make any of them stick. Seels, tiring of the scenery ahead of him, made the money pass on Palmer and never looked back. Coming home second through fifth were Larry Hughes, Bittle, Palmer and Jim Werner.

Chuck Crostic made it two for two Saturday by sweeping the Red Dog Pro Stock heat and main event. Pole-sitter Bub Smith led the early going but couldn't hold off Mark Freeman. Two caution flags slowed the pace, but when the green flag flew Crostic took command for his first career Red Dog win. Rounding out the top five were

Weekend sweep cools Warriors' quick start

Jerseyville hands GCHS third straight loss

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Consistent pitching and solid defense were two of the key ingredients to an 8-1 start for the Granite City baseball team. But the Warriors had neither in Saturday's doubleheader with Jerseyville.

Granite City, coming off Friday's 4-3 loss to Cahokia, traveled to Jerseyville on Saturday and was swept in two games. After falling 7-6 in the opener, the Warriors lost 8-4 in the nightcap and dropped to 8-4 on the year.

Granite City coach Gus Lignoul said the first game was full of errors — as well as golden opportunities for the Warriors. Granite City took a 3-0 lead in the top of the first, but Jerseyville fought its way back and rallied for the victory with an unearned run in the bottom of the seventh.

ALL SIX OF the Warriors' runs were unearned.

"They tried to give it to us, but we gave it right back to them," Lignoul said. "We didn't play very well. We didn't deserve to win either game."

With two outs in the seventh and GCHS reliever Matt Tieman on the mound, the Warriors were preparing for extra innings. But an error by shortstop Kyle Briggs kept the inning alive and another misplay by Shain Kuehnel in right field resulted in the winning run.

Tieman, the losing pitcher in Friday's game against Cahokia, suffered his second straight loss after working scoreless innings in the fifth and sixth. He was the Warriors' fourth pitcher, following starter Jason Talley and relievers Matt Krause and Dustin Brewer.

"HE DID A pretty good job," Lignoul said. "He certainly pitched well enough to get out of the seventh."

"Defensively, we did not play very well. We had some opportunities late in the game and we couldn't get the big hit." The Warriors committed a total of four errors on the day, and the Panthers completed the sweep in the second game with another come-from-behind effort. After the Warriors took a 3-0 lead in the third, the Panthers tied the score in the bottom of the inning and added five more runs in the fourth to break open the game.

Junior pitcher Jeremy Hoback, making his first start of the year, took the loss.

THE WARRIORS' three-game tailspin came on the heels of last Thursday's 1-0 victory over Belleville West, their third shut-out of the season. Kuehnel started and went the distance and improved to 5-0.

Through Thursday's game, the Warriors had outscored their opponents 72-15 in nine games.

"We were 8-1 and in 24 hours we were 8-2," Lignoul said. "We just kind of went through the motions Friday night (against Cahokia). We didn't play well."

"We've been playing pretty well up to this point. Our pitching and defense had been real good. We're making too many mental mistakes."

Metro East preparing for Prairie State Games

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

Mike Moore is a busy man these days.

Moore is co-executive director of the Prairie State Games, Illinois' largest amateur sports festival. After 10 years in Champaign-Urbana and one year in Peoria, the 1995 games will be held July 21-23 in the Metro East. Fairview Heights is the host city, with many events to be held at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville and Belleville Area College.

"MOST OF the venues are set, we're just waiting to hear from a couple gyms we want to use in Madison County," said Moore, who works out of the PSG office in Fairview Heights. "We're busy taking applications statewide, and application books will be available in late April."

"It's as much work as ever once you get close to the games but in every aspect it's more enjoyable because we're having the games in this area. The difficult part will be physically getting the equipment distributed to all the venues and making sure everything is in place in a two-county area."

"But we're dealing with some very good sports people at SIUE and BAC and in Fairview Heights."

A kick-off reception on Sunday, April 30 at St. Clair Square will officially start the countdown to this year's Prairie State Games.

The event, featuring cocktails at 6:30 p.m. with the reception and a sports auction at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the center court of the shopping mall.

THE '95 GAMES are a homecoming of sorts for Moore, a Belleville native who serves as co-executive PSG director along with his wife, Maureen Moore.

(Director of competition) Bob Emig and (assistant director) Matt Schmitt have been working diligently to coordinate the eight regions around the state," Moore said.

"Our board of governors (comprised of local civic and business leaders) has made it easier to organize things from the standpoint of sponsorship. Our board members either know or can recommend a lot of people in the community. We have a pretty large organizing committee and it makes it easier to put things together."

The main kick-off reception is Mark Curtis, sports director of KTVI-TV (Channel 2). The featured speaker is Cliff McCrath, head soccer coach at Seattle Pacific University and a member of the 1994 World Cup National Speakers Tour.

"Cliff has a tremendous motivation and an entertaining speaker," Moore said. "I've known him through coaching for many years. He's the presenter every year for the National Soccer Coaches Association Honorary Award."

"TRAVELING AROUND the country is in demand now. People outside of the soccer community have heard of him."

RIT program lightens load for anglers

"RIT" is a clever little acronym someone came up with for "Reduction in Tackle," a nice way of saying eliminate a bunch of jobs. I'm not much into RIT, but I'm getting into RIT, which means "Reduction in Tackle."

I'm one of those anglers who has fallen into the trap of trying to carry as much fishing tackle as possible — and then adding another 80 to 100 pounds of "stuff." Of course, of the 999 pounds of lures, weights, extra line and so forth carried, 95.5 percent of it never gets used.

So, finally, as my hair turns from gray to white and my back gets weaker, I have embarked upon a RIT program. One thing that is helping mightily is something that's been around forever and forever ignored — small, compact tackle boxes.

THE WAY A good RIT program works is to go through your big tackle boxes, selecting only those lures which have been productive for you in the past. Transfer those productive lures to one of your smaller boxes and store the big one in someplace other than your boat.

Selecting the right stuff in your RIT program is about as much a guess as those who do it in RIF programs. However, sticking to basics will help. So does picking the stuff you like to do and know how to do (sometimes those are the same, but not always). As I started out, I started with jigs since I like to fish a jig-and-pork frog or jig-and-plastic crawfish for bass year-round.

I took two flat plastic boxes — one 6 1/2 by 11 by 1 1/2 inches and one 9 1/2 by 13 by 2 inches — and filled the jigs and plastic crawfish I really want to carry. That sounds like a lot, but I've eliminated one of the big old double-sided Plano tackle boxes that took up a lot more room in our little bass boat. More importantly, switching to the smaller boxes has eliminated a lot of unnecessary weight. I was wondering how the little boat made it with all of that tackle jammed in there.

For our larger lures, like topwaters, I've stayed with the smaller Plano two-sided boxes which allows the carrying of lures over seven inches long. But by using the smaller boxes, we still can store them in lockable storage in the boat. And that forces us to make decisions on which lures to carry and which to leave at home.

MOST ANGLERS could take a big lesson from the professionals when it comes to selecting lures. The pros, especially the bass pros, consider lures to be tools used to fit specific situations. When they have a given set of conditions on a specific body of water, they select a certain set of tools to cope with the problems they face.

However, there's no sense carrying five pounds of jiggling spoons in the boat at this time of year. Few, if any, of us are going to bounce 34-ounce spoons off the bottom in 30 or 40 feet of water at this time of year — even if it was the best method for catching lunkers. We all want to fish shallow whenever we can, especially in the spring.

On the other hand, other than a couple of specialized situations, most of us fish deep in the middle of winter or through the heat of summer. So, why do we carry 10 pounds of topwater lures? Maybe carrying a couple of Zara Spooks, Pop-Rs and buzz baits makes sense, but lugging bunches of topwater lures?

Obviously, there are some lures we use year-round. I mentioned one that almost always is — the venerable jig-and-frog. I fish it deep in winter and summer and shallow spring and fall. I'll flip or pitch a jig-and-frog into brush or around boat docks and I'll drag it along rocky points or buff ledges. The reason is simple. It catches fish.

But I've got jigs of all sizes and dozens of colors. Yet, I find that I fish only a few color combinations — mostly black and green, blue or chartreuse. Alternatives are brown, pumpkinseed or watermelon — maybe with an enhancing trim of orange, chartreuse or blue.

THE OVERALL RIT program becomes especially important when you're wading for trout or smallmouth. Once upon a time, I packed a vest only a mountaineer would be comfortable carrying. It had everything for both my fly rod and spinning rod attacks — and it weighed a short ton. Now, I take the time to switch boxes in the vest when I switch rods. RIT.

against East St. Louis. Granite City entered the game 2-0 in the SWFO and tied for first place with Collinsville.

"The Warriors and Kahoks will square off Thursday in Collinsville in an early-season battle for first place in the conference."

"That's going to be a huge game," Lignoul said. "This is a big week for us. We've got to play much better than we have in these last few games."

"We've got a long way to go and we have a lot of things to improve on. We have to become more consistent."

Granite City was scheduled to play six games in five games this week, beginning with Tuesday's game against East St. Louis. The Warriors are scheduled to play Desmet at 7 p.m. tonight and they will also play host to the Granite City Round Robin Tournament this weekend.

"The tournament will begin at 4 p.m. Friday with a game between Civic Memorial and Greenville. The Warriors will take on Mount Vernon in the following game, and will then meet CM and Greenville on Saturday.

The Warriors will be without several senior starters on Saturday, which is prom night at GCHS. Lignoul said the team's younger players, particularly the younger pitchers, will get a test Saturday.

"Those kids haven't got opportunities to pitch much," Lignoul said. "They're going to have to step it up for us to be successful."

"With the help of American Airlines and Marriott, we're auctioning off a trip for two to the Nike World Campus in Beaverton, Ore.," said Moore, whose local soccer camps have been sponsored by Nike for nine years. "It's a beautiful facility with a soccer field, tennis courts, a basketball court, a health club and more. The trip includes a tour and a shopping spree at the company store."

"We're also auctioning off a golf weekend at Tan-Tan-A at Lake of the Ozarks, Mo.," said Moore. "For more information about the kickoff reception or the Prairie State Games, call the ISG office at 632-1002."

Ryan, Freeman, Chester and 1994 co-champion Terry James.

Ed Lenhardt inherited the lead and scored his first career Street Stock win on the tight Granite City quarter-mile after race-long leader Rick Jones stalled with four laps to go. Chasing him across the stripe were Jim Stevens, Tim Ehlers, Jones and P.J. Wilkerson.

Christian Women's Fellowship meets

The Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church held its annual meeting on Thursday, April 6. The group had as guest speaker Margo Hemphill of Echo (Emergency Children's Home), who explained that Echo is a home for boys and girls 11 to 17 years of age. She also told how the needs of these children are met through Echo. Hemphill then asked if there were any questions while passing out some pamphlets and 12-inch rulers.

The CWF meeting was started by everyone saying the CWF prayer together. The cares and concerns were shared.

Joyce Bennington read the minutes of the previous meeting. The treasurer's report was read by Dorothea Rivenburgh. Doris Edwards reported that the group has one more month in which to get the health kits ready.

Helen Stumpe had four books that she reported on. The books were: "Old Age is Not For Sissies," "Raising Your Kids in an X-Rated Society," "Ruth," and "Roads to Reality." She also read a little bit from "Raising Your Kids in an X-Rated Society" to the group.

The circles (Ruth, Dorcas and Sarah) gave their reports on their meeting. Betty Ebrecht reminded everyone that the Ruth Circle will meet on April 20 instead of April 13.

Ruth Lelik gave the Church Women United report. She also reminded everyone to remember the Crop Walk to be held April 30.

Jo Stephens gave the Sarah Circle report on what they cleaned in church and reminded Ruth Circle members that it is their turn to clean next month.

Myra Parrish reported that there is a women's retreat coming up June 9-11 at the Rickman Center. The cost is $68.

Marge Kacera reminded everyone that the rummage sale is scheduled for Saturday, April 29, at Central Christian Church.

Lena Seitzer, president, announced the Chain of Prayer, which was held April 12. She also asked that the group remember the Lenten services and that the group discuss changing the time of the CWF meeting to 12:30 p.m. on the first Thursday of the month. Ruth Lelik made the motion for the time change and it was seconded and passed. At that time it was mentioned that the Ladies Night Out is scheduled for May 4.

They are as follows: Lena Seitzer, president; Joyce Bennington, vice president; Sharon Cawley, secretary; Mary Lee Lorton, treasurer; Dorothea Rivenburgh, study chairman; Ruth Lelik, worship chairman; Doris Edwards, service projects chairman; and Helen Stumpe, reading chairman.

'Reader Reflections' in Press-Record

"Reader Reflections" returns to your Granite City Press-Record on April 27 with a new batch of categories for spring. The Press-Record invites its readers to submit their best photos for publication in "Reader Reflections," a picture page that will run on the last Thursday of the month on the People page.

Each Reader Reflections page will have a theme, based on one of six categories: Easter Parade, Graduations Past ... Present, Going Places, Fourth of July, Sporting Memories and Summer at Wilson Park. There are many possibilities for photos in each category. For example, "Easter parade"

(April) could include photos of egg hunts, people dressed in their Easter outfits, going to church or gathered around the table for Easter dinner.

"Graduations" (May) is self-explanatory. "Going Places" (June) could include local, out-of-state or out-of-the-country travels. "Fourth of July" (July) is also self-explanatory.

"Sporting memories" (August) is intended to show off photos from the past of someone participating in any kind of sport. "Summer at Wilson Park" (September) is again self-explanatory and could include family reunions, church or school picnics.

Readers may submit one picture in each category, but must use a separate entry sheet for each with the appropriate theme checked. Photos must be received by the 20th of each month for each theme. For example, "Easter Parade" would be due on April 20 and run in the paper on April 27. Photos must be clear and of good quality, must feature one or more persons in the photo and must include appropriate information for the caption. (See entry form.) They may be color or black and white. Photocopies of the photos will not be accepted. If more space is needed to explain the photo, an extra information sheet may be attached to the entry form. Only the best photos will be printed on a space available basis. Photos may be picked up one week after they have run in the paper at the Press-Record Journal office located at 1815 Delmar Ave. Or provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope with each photo, and we will return them via the mail.

So get clicking and share your personal view of family, neighborhood or community with Press-Record readers.

The spirit of volunteering is the heart of United Way

April 23-29 is National Volunteer Week. A week when America makes a special effort to recognize the contribution of hundreds of thousands of volunteers.

At United Way we don't need a special week. Because volunteers are at the heart of United Way every day.

When United Way reaches out, volunteers help do the stretching. The volunteers and non-profit agencies of United Way work hard to make your generosity felt through our entire community.

So, to our volunteers, we say thank you for every person you have touched.

A thousand times, thank you.

Reaching those who need help. Touching us all.™

Hays is the son of Darlene K. and Larry G. Hays of Madison.

Rhonda Niederkorn

Specialist Rhonda S. Niederkorn has been named noncommissioned soldier of the quarter at Camp Humphreys, Pyongtaek-Gun, South Korea. Selection was based on the individual's exemplary duty performance, job knowledge, leadership qualities, significant self-improvement and other accomplishments.

Niederkorn, a light-wheel vehicle mechanic, is the daughter of Carolyn E. Stamm of Granite City. She is a 1986 graduate of Granite City High School.

Brandon Burnett

Army Private Brandon D. Burnett has arrived for duty at Schofield Barracks, Oahu, Hawaii. Burnett, a turbine engine-driven generator repairer, is the son of Kathy D. and Richard W. Burnett of Madison. He is a 1994 graduate of Venice High School.

David Schmelter

Marine Staff Sergeant David R. Schmelter, son of Robert E. and Gladys D. Schmelter of Granite City, recently graduated from Instructor Training School. During the course, conducted at Instructional Management School, Marine Corps Service Support Schools, Camp Lejeune, N.C., students are taught lesson plan preparation, oral delivery techniques, use of training aids and personnel guidance and counseling skills. Studies also included the duties and responsibilities of counselors and instructors at Marine Corps Schools.

The 1978 graduate of Edwardsville Senior High School joined the Marine Corps in July 1978.

Jeffrey Graham

Navy Petty Officer Second Class Jeffrey F. Graham, son of Larry F. and Cathy E. Graham of Granite City, recently reported for duty at Naval Submarine Support Facility New London, Groton, Conn. The 1988 graduate of Collinsville High School joined the Navy in March 1989.

Ronald Glasgow

Marine Private First Class Ronald A. Glasgow, son of Ronald A. and Doris Glasgow of Granite City, recently deployed with the Marine Corps' Second Light Armored Reconnaissance Battalion to Fort Benning, Ga., for a three-month training exercise. Glasgow is one of 300 Marines based at Marine Corps Base Camp Lejeune, N.C., who are participating in the annual gunnery exercise involving light armored vehicles equipped with 25 mm machine guns. Glasgow and fellow Marines will be using the Fort Benning firing ranges to maneuver their eight-wheel vehicles as they conduct day and night training exercises. Using their extremely mobile 14-ton vehicles, the Marines will train shooting at moving targets while maneuvering in the field.

During the deployment, Glasgow will participate in small arms training as they train to improve their unit's overall readiness. Using M-16 service rifles and M-60 machine guns, Glasgow and fellow Marines will fire at pop-up targets to improve reaction times and accuracy. The group also will be tested in their ability to operate in four-person teams to overcome obstacles and meet objectives during the training. The training will culminate with a one-day combined arms exercise in which Glasgow and the battalion will be tested in their ability to fight an all out war against a simulated enemy at one of Fort Benning's premiere firing ranges.

Glasgow's involvement in the training is an example of how the Marine Corps is working closely with other services to make the most of available resources while training to increase readiness and prepare for forward deployed missions around the world. The 1994 graduate of Granite City High School joined the Marine Corps in February 1994.

Jeremy Taylor

Marine Private Jeremy A. Taylor, son of Rhonda J. Bettag of Granite City, recently completed recruit training. During the training cycle at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine and personal and professional standards. He is a 1994 graduate of Granite City High School.

Horoscope

Wednesday, April 19
Lots of productive industry and practical action accompany the Capricorn moon — do some shopping for necessities and even a luxury or two. It's OK to decide on an investment or a means of financing a big purchase you've wanted for a long time. Family members who have been uncommunicative will now be willing to explain what has been on their minds.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Make plans, and set goals. Explain on paper what is difficult to say. Check with a parent to see if you can make a task easier for him or her. Give the kids a good talking to — they'll straighten right up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Instructions you deliver are carried out well. A financial matter you've been worried about is only temporary. Shop, do errands, and welcome new acquaintances — they bring you luck.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)
You'll be surprised how cheery your mood is — pass it on to a grouchy pal. Your mate has a nice surprise. Enjoy powerful relationships, even if the checks you collect are for your boss and not for you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)
New relationships involve plenty of learning. You never knew how easy love could be until this cheerful new romantic interest came along. More amazing new stuff is around the corner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Appreciate the pleasant times with a relationship of passion — there are still a few tests of possessiveness and jealousy ahead. One of your clever ideas gets appropriate attention.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 19)
Your enthusiasm brings you big gains in '95 — new places and people are your keys to success. Watch for love to get exciting in May. Your credit is extended, too. Writing brings you luck in June. Extra money comes through family in July. Creative juices take over in August, and you're on your way to new heights through contacts after October.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Take a minute to catch up on the gossip with supermarket checkers and buddies at the copy shop — your spirits will be lifted by small talk, and you might find romance along your path.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Give yourself a chance to get to know a co-worker better. You may discover you can count on a new friend to help you with heavy loads. Be ready to take soup to ailing relatives.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)
Love is your motivator for accomplishment. Be ready for a new kind of relationship to come upon you unexpectedly. Long-standing family matters are set for sudden changes, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Your strength of purpose holds you right on the line at work and at home, though your physical energy may not be up to par. Have you been burning the candle at both ends? Get some sleep!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Telling the truth in all things is vital now — if you can't tell it like it is, don't say anything. Spend time in meditation, and a nutrition program will be helpful as you maintain a high work output.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Your level of accomplishment is soaring, but putting all efforts behind one speculative idea could jeopardize your credibility with associates, so continue to maintain routine efforts too.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Important pals are your best bet where getting ahead is concerned — call all your contacts to drum up fresh business. A relocation may be in order after all — get ready to make your move.

Remakes of old hits often find new success

By Bill Beggs
Correspondent

BEEPEN THERE, DONE THAT: Remakes of old songs that once were hits on the Billboard charts often become hits again. Sometimes the remakes are note-for-note versions of the originals. Sometimes the musical arrangements are changed. But remakes often find new success among audiences not familiar with the original tunes.

1. "You Got It," a current hit by Bonnie Raitt from the film "Boys on the Side," is a remake of a No. 9 hit from 1989 for whom?

2. What No. 4 Loggins & Messina song from 1973 did Poison remake for a No. 10 hit in 1989?

3. Who took the Jackie Wilson song "Your Love Keeps Lifting Me" Higher And Higher" four slots higher 10 years after Wilson hit No. 6 with the tune in 1967?

4. What song has been its own Fort Knox, hitting No. 1 in 1957 for both Tab Hunter and Sonny James, No. 17 that year for the Crew-Cuts and then No. 25 in 1973 for Donny Osmond?

5. Who hit No. 4 in 1991 with a remake of Wild Cherry's cheery No. 1 hit from 1976, "Play That Funky Music"?

6. What No. 3 hit by The Rolling Stones from 1968 did Aretha Franklin rework and take to No. 21 in 1986?

7. In 1963, who hit No. 1 with "Go Away Little Girl," also a No. 1 hit in 1971 for Donny Osmond?

8. What No. 1 hit for Elvis Presley in 1956 did Midwestern rockers Cheap Trick take to No. 4 in 1988?

9. Who took the No. 13 hit in 1966 for Simon & Garfunkel, "Hazy Shade Of Winter," to No. 2 in 1988?

10. What No. 1 hit for Nilsson in 1972 did Mariah Carey recently remake? (Extra credit: Who wrote the song?)

ANSWERS: 1. Roy Orbison 2. "Your Mama Don't Dance" 3.

Local NSDAR chapter holds meeting

The March meeting of the Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the NSDAR was held in the Niedrighaus United Methodist Church parlor with Emma Schoen and Dorothy Whitmer serving as hostesses. After a breakfast snack, the meeting was called to order by Barbara Williams, regent, who led the group in the DAR Opening Ritual and Pledge of Allegiance. Sandra Wilkinson read the president's message and Marie Reinhardt gave the national defense report on "Today's Immigration Problems."

There were no additional nominations to the proposed slate of officers presented at the February meeting. Reinhardt moved that the slate be accepted as read. The new officers will be installed at the May meeting.

The February and March issues of the DAR Magazine were discussed and the two slates of ladies who are running for national officers were also discussed. Illinois has a candidate on both slates, thereby creating problems for the delegates entitled to vote. The winning slate will be announced at the late April DAR continental congress in Washington, D.C.

The group authorized the printing of a quantity of yearbook covers to be used over several years. It was announced that Linda Mizell and Williams attended several of the sessions of the Illinois state DAR conference in Springfield in late March. Judith Schatz presented the program of "A Tree Grows in Goshen," which was the story of the huge tree that grew in Madison County not too far from the local area. A picture of Audrey Sperry standing under this tree was also exhibited.

Also in attendance were Margaret Belt and a guest, Norman Reinhardt.

Dennis Stout

Dennis A. Stout of Granite City, a technical sergeant with the 932nd Airlift Wing, an Air Force Reserve unit at Scott Air Force Base, is training day and night at Dobbins AFB in Georgia. He is part of a team of civil engineers preparing for a combat readiness competition called Readiness Challenge V, April 9-13 at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida.

Thirteen teams of civil engineers from U.S. Air Force bases around the world, as well as Canadian Royal Air Force team, will compete in several rigorous events, including a nighttime obstacle course filled with flares and simulated explosions and gunfire. Other timed events will test their engineering skills in a wartime scenario.

"In some ways, the training's been a lot harder for us than for people in active duty units," said Sgt. James Chandaris, an electrician in his civilian job. He should know, he competed in a Readiness Challenge competition in 1990 with the 375th Airlift Wing, an active duty unit at Scott. "We've had to work our regular jobs during the week and then practice on weekends before coming down here."

"Chandaris deployed to the Persian Gulf as part of Operation Desert Storm right after competition in 1990. He lived in a tent for nine months that was similar to the one he helped erect during the competition.

"The training really helped us over there. It came at the right time for me," he said.

Maj. Frank Mack, commander of the 932nd CE Squadron, says the team should do well. "Their morale is high despite long training days filled with physically demanding exercises."

Mark Wood

Navy Lieutenant Mark A. Wood, son of Max E. and Peggy R. Wood of Granite City, recently reported for duty aboard Precommissioning Unit Fitzgerald, homeported in Bath, Maine.

He joined the Navy in September 1974. Wood is a graduate of The Citadel, Charleston, S.C., with a BSDE degree.

Patrick Suermann

Air Force Cadet Patrick C.

Suermann has been placed on the commandant's list for military excellence with a 3.0 or better military performance average at the United States Air Force Academy at the end of the semester.

The staff and faculty of the United States Air Force Academy are charged with developing and inspiring future air and space leaders with vision for tomorrow.

The academy is a four-year military institution that provides instruction, education, training and experience in academics, military training, athletic conditioning and spiritual and ethical development to all cadets. They graduate with the knowledge, character and skills essential to meet the leadership challenges of the 21st century for future career officers in the U.S. Air Force.

Suermann is the son of Thomas C. and June A. Suermann of Granite City.

Christopher Finn

Army Private Christopher T. Finn has entered basic training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the eight weeks of training, the soldiers will study the Army's mission and will receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, Army history and traditions and special training in human relations.

Finn is the son of Teresa J. Donald and Larry A. Finn, both of Granite City.

The soldier is a 1994 graduate of Granite City Senior High School.

Carl Cox

Navy Seaman Recruit Carl V. Cox, son of Carlos V. Cox and Vicki S. Jakul, both of Granite City, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Cox completed a variety of training which included classroom study, practical hands-on instruction and an emphasis on physical fitness. In particular, Cox learned naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival and a variety of safety skills required for working around ships and aircraft.

Cox and other recruits also received instruction on the Navy's core values — honor, courage and commitment — and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct. Cox joins 55,000 men and women who will enter the Navy this year from all over the country.

Men and women train together from their first day in the Navy just as they do aboard ships and at shore bases around the world. To reinforce the team concept, Cox and other recruits also were trained in preventing sexual harassment and ensuring equal opportunity.

Even as the naval service gets smaller over the next few years, highly motivated young people like Cox are still finding an opportunity to improve their knowledge and education as they become part of the most highly technical naval force in history. This year alone, the Navy will have more than 57,000 job openings and opportunities, most of which include guaranteed training.

Cox is a 1991 graduate of Granite City High School.

Harold Dodd

Air Force Senior Airman Harold D. Dodd has arrived for duty at Yokota Air Base, Tokyo.

Dodd, a communications-computer systems operator, is the son of Willis J. Dodd of Summit, Mo., and the brother of Bradley Dodd of Granite City.

He is a 1988 graduate of Jefferson City High School, Jefferson City, Mo.

Melissa Oberle

Air Force Senior Airman Melissa L. Oberle has arrived for duty at Barksdale Air Force Base in Bossier City, La.

Oberle, a maintenance scheduling specialist, is the daughter of Ginger L. Dion and stepdaughter of Joseph G. Dion of Granite City.

Her husband, Air Force Senior Airman David L. Oberle, is the son of Arthur and Janet Oberle of Granite City.

She is a 1989 graduate of Walled Lake Western High School.

Travelers Abroad hold dinner meeting

Nineteen members and one guest, Dorothy Volotoup, attended the March dinner meeting of Travelers Abroad at Jerry's Cafeteria in Granite City. Dr. Alice Purdes, president, welcomed the group. A minute of silent prayer was held for Mildred King, a member who recently passed away. Attendance prizes of a dinner for two were won by Betty Townsend and Charles Schweizer.

The president highlighted coming topics and presenters as follows: April, Dorothy Volotoup on Russia; May, Isabella Southwick on Italy; September, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loxow on the Caribbean; and October, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Stimac on Russia.

Purdes introduced Larry Rinehart, a student at the Venice-Lincoln Technical School, who spoke on ports of call in the Mediterranean. Rinehart enlisted in the Navy at age 17, served his three-year period and was discharged at age 21.

In January 1982, aboard the aircraft carrier Dwight D. Eisenhower, Rinehart saw service in the Mediterranean Sea, touching or viewing many ports of call in the three years. Rinehart's job on the carrier was to build bombs and rockets. Normal schedules on the ship were 13 hours on duty and 11 hours off. Rinehart's job location was several decks below the plane landing docks. Pilots frequently consulted with the builders of the bombs to determine what could be done to insure maximum efficiency on their release of the bombs and rockets.

Generally, when the carrier approached a port, shore leave of eight to 10 hours was allowed for those who had not drawn duty through the rotation system. Sometimes the ship would be at sea from four to six weeks without seeing land; at other times, they might visit three ports within one week.

In visiting Rota, Spain, the speaker found narrow, cobblestone streets with buildings immediately adjacent to each other — no spaces between. Archways through some buildings lead to steps descending into courtyards featuring fountains, hanging flowers, marble benches, statues and people eating.

Palma, on the island of Majorca, according to Rinehart, was a busy, compact city with many Gothic churches dating back to the 13th and 14th centuries. The musician, Chopin, spent the winter of 1838-39 there while trying to recover from tuberculosis. He had his piano shipped here but became more ill rather than recovering.

Rinehart and one of his buddies encountered a vacationing British couple, the Pearsons, here, joined them for a drink and were astounded that the couple wanted to kiss them as they left — just a peck on each cheek.

While stopped for a port call, the speaker said it seemed that all towns were on the shoreline with mountains and trees behind them. Naturally, nearly all buildings were white with red tiled roofs.

Passing the island of Corsica, they did stop at Palermo, which is in the northern part of Sicily. The carrier was anchored a distance out and those with shore leave had to go in by shuttle boat or liberty boat. Here, again, there was an arch of mountains behind the city with much 17th and 18th centuries Baroque styling visible. Rinehart could not see Mount Etna. Some of the best preserved and most magnificent Greek temples in the world are on this island.

Rinehart said he was home on leave for a short time and that he flew from Philadelphia to Athens to rejoin his ship. He was on a military plane and this was the first landing on a carrier where he experienced the plane being stopped by one of the four hooks on the landing deck. He said seeing it done and experiencing it involved totally different reactions.

In Athens, the speaker saw the ruins of the Acropolis, the Plaka or "old town," marble sculptures and the Temple of Zeus. He saw the stadium where the first Olympic games were held in 1896 and learned that the first marathon was measured off there.

The ship was anchored for two days off the island of Rhodes. The speaker said that all he could see were sheer cliffs and when he first got on the island pulled the boats in.

Rinehart said that Naples was the prettiest port he had been to. It was large, there were a lot of boats and there were palm trees with mountains in the background.

He was amazed that the people in Pompeii, the home of Mount Vesuvius, were still building houses on the side of the mountain. (Someone in the audience said that the Italian government pays people well to live on the side of Mount Vesuvius, so money talks while the mountain, possibly, rumbles.) Much of Vesuvius is cordoned off to visitors. Rinehart remarked that when one is getting off the ship, the first street one sees is extremely wide and full of people — very few cars — just people.

Memories of Nice, France, were sharpened by the amount of traffic, noise and high-rise apartments — all with balconies containing laundry strung across them. There were street markets, flower peddlers and corner cafes on the narrow, cobblestone streets.

Monte Carlo found the speaker confined to the ship with duty. Luckily, he pulled external security, which meant using strong binoculars to keep watch of the surrounding areas. Many things happened on docked yachts and beaches became visible; those on-shore visitors would never see them.

Sailing on the opposite side of the Mediterranean and getting shore leave produced some different food. From Tangier, Morocco, one could see the Rock of Gibraltar and the Rif Mountains. Couscous was served with nearly every meal and Ouzo was a common drink. Farther along the top of the African continent, the speaker found that the capital of Tunisia — Tunis — had a lot of white buildings, many inlets along its coast line and a lot of people wanting to trade or barter.

Rinehart concluded his talk by describing his problems in Alexandria, Egypt. It was a pretty city and he was taking pictures. Eventually, he encountered a "local" person who convinced him that he needed his picture taken on a camel. He finally agreed. The local took a couple pictures of him and immediately left the area running, taking the very expensive camera with him. Of course, Rinehart finally got off the camel. Deciding it would not adapt well to the ship, he left a far wiser person than when he first got on the camel.

Others in attendance at the meeting were Frieda Bergdorf, Lillian Delpa, Nina Dittman, Betty Duft, Marieann and Gordon Hankla, James Hayes, Dorothy Hoedbeck, Marguerite Loxow, Helen Lilly, Marge O'Neill, Rose Schmidt, Eleanor and Charles Schweizer, Mary Louise Swan and Barbara Williams.

Volotoup will present a narrative slide program on Russia at the April 24 meeting. Interested persons may call Williams at 861-2559 for additional information.

Only during the coolness of spring does the garden produce exquisite fresh peas. A connoisseur rushes them from stalk to pot in one swoop through the garden. As soon as peas leave the plant, they gradually lose sweetness as sugar changes to starch. Rushing them into the refrigerator helps avoid this. The closer they are to uncooked, the more vitamin C they hold, which makes snap peas with edible fresh pods attractive beyond their flavor. One pound in-pod peas yields just 1 cup peas without pods.

Surprises for Spring

By Janice Denham

Food teases the taste buds and tempts the mind. Even when strawberries on the stem are the size of marbles, the appetite may put out a call for pumpkin pie.

Christmas can be celebrated in July, with Thanksgiving in April. It's just a belated April Fool's pun for fun when the punch line is food.

Laugh all the way to the table with sliced ham left in the refrigerator. Heat it to serve with a sauce of fruity flavor headlined by cranberry sauce and apple jelly.

A fruity sauce gives baked ham — heated in the oven or on the stovetop — year-round appeal.

Weave flavorful pork on skewers to broil or grill for hearty appetizers.

Fresh asparagus and whole wheat pasta brighten the plate with color.

Cranberry products are available year-round in several forms, including traditional sauces, juices and dried. Use the combination juices as a cue to merge their tang with other fruit flavors. For instance, a rhubarb-cranberry tart adds minimal sugar by capitalizing on the sweetness already in cranberry sauce. Ordinarily, the rhubarb would be offset with strawberries.

Honey and balsamic vinegar offer light appeal that lassos favorite makings into a surprising main-dish salad. Pork chops are cooked until just barely done to keep them tender, then used as much for garnish as a main ingredient over a colorful bouquet of lettuce and strawberries. That touch-of-sweet dressing glistens on the greens, while celery and pecans offer little bites of crunch.

HONEY NUT TASTEEOS

SWEETENED TOASTED OAT CEREAL

Crunch, sweetness and price are three attributes of Shop 'n Save's honey nut Tasteos.

Tasters like cereal that's priced great

Packaged cereal is the salvation of many breakfasts. Because buying it can dent the budget, families are looking for ways to get the most value for their money.

Suburban Journal testers had a milk-and-cereal break of Shop 'n Save honey nut Tasteos to see whether paying $2.29 instead of the national brand's price of $3.19 for a 14-ounce package would be a better buy.

The answer was a resounding "yes."

Its crunch was easy to hear as everyone ate at the same time.

"It stays crunchy all the way through," a tester said. Another was happy it was crunchy because he had a bowl of cereal with milk, plus a delay in getting a spoon. Another equated the crunch with freshness.

Sweetness received the most attention. Several never had sampled the sweeter version of plain round oat cereal.

"This should appeal to people who like a presweetened cereal," one said.

"You get the sweet, then the crunch, then the oats," another added.

"Well, they are crunchy. I'd give them a 'thumbs-up.' I don't like overly sweet cereal. These are about right," a taster said.

Those who admitted having a sweet tooth, as well as those who like plain cereal, were complimentary about the level of sweetness.

Micro Raves

Serve the best during mid-week

Lasagna on a weeknight?

Impossible! It would seem a family-loving, time-consuming main dish like that must wait until the weekend. However, many busy people use their microwave ovens to make meal preparation of popular dishes — even lasagna — possible.

A microwave oven easily turns out a Sunday dinner menu on Wednesday night.

To do this, it is time to move from thawing frozen meats to cooking dinner in a microwave. Keeping handy notes of cooking times for meat products increases the comfort level of a novice microwave cook.

Fresh chicken for example, cooks as quickly on high power as it does salted, seasoned and frozen by someone else. It takes about seven minutes per pound.

Pork, on the other hand, can start at a high power setting, but should be completed on a medium (50 percent) power to maintain even cooking and to prevent dry meat on the outer surfaces. Pork generally takes about 10 minutes per pound. Time is calculated initially using a high power setting, then recalculated with the lower power level in mind for the second cooking session.

A lower power setting means a microwave oven cycles on and off, for instance, it is actually off half the time when it is programmed for medium (50 percent) power.

For example, a three-pound roast is cooked 30 minutes — 10 minutes per pound — on high power. To cook more evenly, it is cooked on high power 15 minutes, half of the time, then turned over to continue cooking at medium power, so the remaining time on half-power means it should cook twice as long. Thus, the remaining 15 minutes becomes about 30 minutes at that medium power setting.

A tender beef roast is cooked like pork. The high power times for a boneless beef roast are six minutes per pound for rare, seven minutes per pound for medium and eight minutes per pound for well done. The times drop one minute per pound when a roast has bone in it because there is less meat to cook.

Ground beef cooks in about 5 minutes per pound on high power. Stirring it apart occasionally prevents it from becoming meatloaf.

In fact, cooking ground meat in a microwave oven offers an opportunity to cook and drain unhealthy fat from the meat in one step. Just suspend the meat in a plastic colander over a glass bowl, cook about half the time, stir it, then finish cooking.

Use this technique for cooking ground beef in this lasagna. This recipe is ideal for a busy cook. It uses convenience products, requires minimal measuring, calls for uncooked pasta and can be prepared and cooked in less than an hour.

Betty Serati specializes in microwave cooking.

MICROWAVE-EASY LASAGNA

1 1/2 lb. lean ground beef or turkey

1 jar (28 oz.) spaghetti sauce or 3 1/2 cups homemade spaghetti sauce

1 pkg. (8 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese
1 carton (1 lb.) low-fat cottage cheese
1 egg, slightly beaten

2 tbsp. parsley flakes or 2 tbsp. snipped fresh parsley
1/4 cup plus 2 tbsp. grated parmesan cheese
8 uncooked lasagna noodles

Suspend meat in plastic colander over glass bowl. Cook on high power 5 to 6 minutes, stirring occasionally to break apart meat. Discard grease.

In large glass bowl, combine meat and sauce. Cook, covered, on high power 4 to 5 minutes until hot.

In small bowl, stir together cottage cheese, egg, parsley and 1/4 cup parmesan cheese.

In ungreased 12-by-8-inch glass baking dish, spoon about one-third sauce. Place 4 uncooked noodles on sauce. Spread half the cottage cheese mixture over noodles. Top with half the mozzarella cheese. Repeat layers. Spread remaining sauce on top.

Cover with plastic wrap, venting slightly. Microwave on high power 15 minutes.

Turn dish. Cook on medium power 20 minutes. Remove plastic wrap. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons parmesan cheese. Cook, uncovered, 2 minutes. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes.

Best-dressed salad prize awarded

A green salad can make a bold statement in its dressing.

The "in" salad style is flavorful vinaigrette that combines oil and vinegar to enhance, not overwhelm, its companion lettuce. What's different is that vinaigrette dressings that add fat calories and little taste besides the dressing.

A multitude of commercial dressings in today's market offers a wide range of options from dry mixes to fat-free alternatives. When selecting one, opt for one with less than one gram saturated fat per serving. If sodium is a concern, check the label, because some dressings serve up a hefty amount of sodium.

Commercial dressings offer bottle-ready convenience, but homemade dressing is simple to make and lets a cook tailor it to individual tastes and control the type and amount of fat used.

Basic choices involve the type of oil and seasonings used. While the traditional ratio is three or four parts oil to one part vinegar, amounts are easy to adjust.

Select an oil based on the greens served. Flavorful greens — such as a combination of leaf lettuces, radicchio and arugula match well with olive oil. Try extra virgin olive oil for distinct olive flavor.

Olive oil can be used in combination with other vegetable oils, like canola, soy, safflower, sunflower or corn. Sesame oil and walnut oil also offer flavorful additions to well-dressed salad. All these oils are a good source of unsaturated fats.

Vinegar brings variety to a dressing. It provides enough zestiness so salt can be replaced.

Milder rice vinegar and cider vinegar provide tang, while herb vinegars and red wine vinegars add other dimensions to the vinaigrette.

Balsamic vinegar, now widely available in supermarkets, is a powerhouse of flavor.

Run for the border overhauls old Tex-Mex fat

Fast-food Mexican-style is typified by Taco Bell where the younger set especially feels it gets good value for its money.

Now "the Bell" seems to be making a run for the older, more health-conscious market with its "border-light" selections.

Taking a look at this part of its menu in our periodic evaluation of popular fast food, we find four taco choices containing half the fat of regular versions. Both crisp and soft-shelled tacos make use of seasoned lean beef, real fat-free sour cream and real light or fat-free cheddar cheese. I found the reduced-fat cheese to be quite satisfactory although it took longer to get used to the fat-free sour cream.

Nutrition analysis confirms "border-light" tacos have only five grams fat each and a respectable average of 30 percent calories from fat.

The originals feature 11 to 15 grams fat, which amount to 44 to 55 percent of their calories.

Mexican food restaurants are not always a good place to "just order the salad" if watching fat intake.

Taco salad traditionally is served in a large fried tortilla shell.

At Taco Bell it offers a whopping 838 calories and 55 grams fat, nearly a full day's allowance for many people.

However, it now offers two leaner salads as well, one with chips for 680 calories and 25 g fat, the other without chips for 330 calories and just 9 grams fat.

The leanest options on the regular menu include the bean burrito, chicken soft taco, pinto 'n' cheese and tostada.

These choices hold nearly 40 percent of their calories from fat, not uncommon for a main dish. A side order of seasoned rice — and perhaps some fruit carried along — would move these meals into more nutritious line.

Salsa, picante sauce, green sauce or pico de gallo are commendable fat-free condiment choices.

The red flag goes up with the addition of cheese, regular sour cream, guacamole and fried chips.

Fortunately anyone interested in nutrition information can get it for the asking at the counter.

Surprises

Continued from page 1C. just passable for April. A marinade spices the center of small strips of lean pork with an appeal that can be cooked in over coals or in a broiler.

PORK SATE APPETIZERS

2 lb. boneless pork loin
4 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup soy sauce
1 1/2 cups Dijon mustard
1/2 cup honey

With sharp knife, slice pork in 1/2-by-1/2-inch julienne strips. Stir together garlic, soy sauce, mustard and honey.

Use half the mixture to marinate pork strips 30 minutes; reserve other half. If using bamboo skewers, soak in cold water 30 minutes before using to prevent burning. Remove pork from marinade. Discard marinade. Grill or broil 3 to 4 minutes, turning once or twice. Serve with reserved sauce for dipping.

Makes 16 servings.

HAM-IT-UP BERRY SAUCE

Sliced ham

1 can (16 oz.) whole berry cranberry sauce
1/2 cup apple jelly
1/4 cup raisins
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
3 tbsp. dark rum

In medium mixing bowl, break up cranberry sauce with fork. Stir in apple jelly. Microwave on high power 45 seconds or warm over low heat. Stir in raisins, walnuts and rum. Chill to thicken.

Serve at room temperature with warm ham or use on open-face cold sandwiches.

Makes enough sauce for about 12 servings.

PECAN-PORK SALAD

4. boneless pork chops

2 tsp. oil
Salt and pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/4 cup honey
3 tbsp. balsamic vinegar
4 cups torn iceberg, Boston or bibb lettuce
1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/4 cup chopped pecans

Heat large skillet over medium-high heat. Season chops and brush with a little oil. Cook, turning occasionally, to brown evenly until done. Just done. Remove from skillet.

Add any remaining oil to pan. Quickly saute garlic 1 to 2 minutes, stirring constantly, until tender.

Stir in honey and balsamic vinegar. Cook and stir 1 minute or until heated through.

In large bowl, toss together lettuce, strawberries, celery and vinegar mixture.

Divide lettuce mixture among individual plates. Slice each pork chop and fan over salads. Sprinkle with pecans.

Makes 4 servings.

COUNTRY CRANBERRY RHUBARB TART

1 can (16 oz.) whole berry cranberry sauce

1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 1/2 tbsp. cornstarch
3/4 lb. rhubarb stalks, cut in 1/2 inch pieces
Unbaked pastry for single-crust pie
Confectioner's sugar

Preheat oven to 375°.

Combine cranberry sauce, sugar and cornstarch in medium bowl. Stir in rhubarb. Pour into pastry-lined 9-inch pie plate. Fold over crust edge, pleating it to form fluted edge.

Bake in preheated oven 4 minutes or until golden brown. Cool completely.

Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar before serving.

Makes 8 servings.

PICK BERRIES BY THE BASKET

A pint of strawberries usually is the small plastic basket in the store; a quart is the larger basket. To wash berries, let cold water run through them in a colander or strainer. Do not remove caps before washing or water will fill berry and quickly spoil its texture and nutritive value. Strawberries are prepared and left standing in fruit salad, adding citrus juice helps save texture and vitamin C.

Easy to eat by hand, stromboli are a sandwich-lover's dream.

Hang onto everyday lunch of sandwich plus a salad

Lunch of sandwich and a salad has a new glow when the sandwich is a hand-held loaf with meat layers wound into the dough and salad is refreshing chilled fruit.

Tender yeast dough surrounds succulent ham, salami and cheese to create tasty Stromboli. For a portable meal easy to make in advance, this is the one when made with frozen bread dough. Simply roll out the dough, top with meats and cheese, roll up, let rise and bake.

For a salad, combine banana and orange and let lemon juice blend with honey for a tangy dressing.

- 1 pkg. (2.25 oz.) sliced Italian salami
- ¾ cup (3 oz.) shredded mozzarella, provolone or cheddar cheese
- 1 egg beaten with 1 tsp. water

Divide thawed dough into 4 equal portions. On lightly floured board, roll or pat each piece in circle 6 inches in diameter. Top circle of dough with 1 slice ham, 3 slices salami and 2 to 3 tablespoons shredded cheese, leaving ½-inch border of dough around meat. Lightly brush border with diluted egg.

Starting from one side, begin rolling dough jellyroll-style, folding in sides of dough as it is rolled. Seal all seams.

Place seam-side-down on greased baking sheet. Brush with egg wash. Let rise until puffy.

Preheat oven to 375°. Lightly brush again with egg glaze. Bake in preheated oven 20 to 30 minutes until well browned. Remove from pan to cool on wire rack. Makes 4 sandwiches.

FRESH AMBROSIA

- Juice of ½ lemon
- 2 bananas, peeled, sliced
- 2 oranges, peeled, cut in half-cartwheel slices
- 2 tbsp. honey
- 2 tbsp. raisins
- 2 tbsp. coconut

Sprinkle lemon juice over banana. Add orange, honey and raisins. Stir gently. Chill. To serve, spoon into 4 individual dessert dishes. Sprinkle with coconut.

Makes four (¾-cup) servings; 142 calories, 1 g protein, 1 g fat, 35 g carbohydrate, no cholesterol, 10 mg sodium, 403 mg potassium and 3 g dietary fiber each.

Color, flavor burst over winning salad

Genny Blair, Ellisville, is winner of this week's recipe contest for Strawberry Spinach Salad. For it she wins a prize of dinner certificates at the Pasta House Co.

This new-fashioned salad with fresh spinach and strawberries provides variety. It adds mushrooms and onion, plus bell pepper or avocado for optional extras. She switches ingredients with the season. It is a traditional spring brunch salad served with a sausage and cheese casserole, yet adds color to a Christmas table.

Recipes in the Italian Recipe Contest will be accepted through April 30 for consideration as winner each of the five weeks in May, giving an opportunity to win and extra week.

Send one recipe per household to: Italian Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. Any type of dish — such as appetizer, main dish, salad or dessert — with an Italian theme will be considered.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special. If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. It will be part of the basis for selecting winners, along with taste and eye appeal.

STRAWBERRY SPINACH SALAD

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. poppy seeds
- 1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 tsp. paprika
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar

In food processor or blender, mix sugar, poppy seeds, Worcestershire sauce, paprika, oil and vinegar well. Wash spinach well. Dry. Tear in bite-size pieces. In large salad bowl, combine spinach with strawberries, mushrooms, onion and bell pepper or avocado.

SWEET-AND-SOUR CHICKEN STIR-FRY

Easy dinner takes stock of mix-and-match pantry

Home-cooked meals can stand out as wholesome, nutritious and money-saving.

Some times minimal time makes them seem difficult, but a little organization and inspiration can move a family out of the fast-food line and off the phone to a local pizza delivery service. That sets the family organizer in the middle of the supermarket to look for convenient, timesaving ingredients.

It also means minimizing shopping by stocking up as much as possible on each trip. A generous supply of basics can be mixed and matched to create a variety of quick main dishes. Here are suggestions to include when compiling a useful grocery list:

• A variety of canned staples is as important as the spices. Fruits and vegetables can be varied, such as with different cuts of pineapple, as well as stewed tomatoes, tomato paste and sauce. Tuna, chicken broth, black beans, refried beans, diced green chiles and olives help switch meal ingredients.

• Noodles, rice and quick potatoes are available as readily as dry mixes featuring them. Fresh and ground garlic and onion are variations of the same ingredients.

• For condiments and seasonings in a pantry, include soy sauce, barbecue sauce, honey, mustards, ketchup, salsa, Worcestershire sauce, vinegars, olive and vegetable oils. Lemons, limes and oranges add fresh juice and zest. Distinctive herbs and spices include curry powder, basil, rosemary, oregano, thyme, sage, cinnamon, nutmeg and chili powder.

• In addition to milk and eggs, a refrigerator can hold plain yogurt, cottage cheese, corn and flour tortillas and cheeses.

• Stock the freezer with quick-cooking meats — like boneless chicken and turkey breast and thighs, thinly-cut pork chops, ground beef and ground turkey — in single or family-size portions. Frozen vegetables make a quick stir-fry.

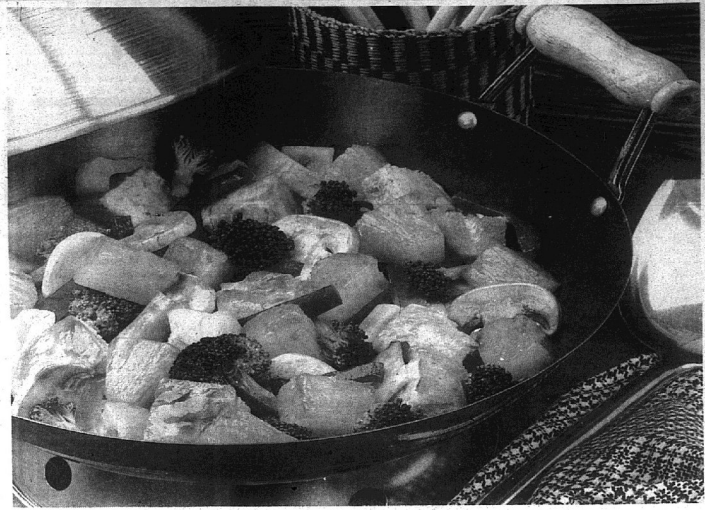

The goal is to mix and match handy ingredients.

SWEET-AND-SOUR CHICKEN STIR-FRY

- 3 tbsp. ketchup
- 1 tbsp. vinegar
- 1 tsp. soy sauce
- 2 boned, skinned chicken breasts, cut in 1 inch cubes
- 1 tsp. oil
- 8 oz. frozen stir-fry vegetables or frozen vegetable combination (see note)
- 1 can (20 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained

Combine ketchup, vinegar and soy sauce in small bowl. In large skillet or wok in hot oil over medium-high heat, cook and stir chicken until browned.

Stir in vegetables. Reduce heat to low. Cook, covered, 2 to 3 minutes until vegetables are tender-crisp, stirring occasionally. Stir in pineapple and reserved sauce.

Sweet-and-Sour Chicken Stir-Fry makes a quick, easy supper dish with convenient ingredients.

Beef and vegetables save time in savory soup pot

Who has time to simmer a pot of soup? You do.

Today soups are quick and flavorful, because they pair fresh ingredients with quality convenience products that are easy to keep on hand.

Ready-to-serve beef broth is the hearty, homestyle base for 15-minute Homemade Beef and Vegetable Soup. Garlic, thyme and pepper add homemade flavor to the broth, while a frozen blend of hearty vegetables is paired with quick-cooking, thinly-sliced beef round tip steak to make this a meal.

For another fast meal, team up a package of Spanish rice mix, convenient beef cubed steaks and canned, chili-seasoned, diced tomatoes. To ensure maximum tenderness, the cubed steaks should be cooked until the outside surface is just lightly browned. Do not overcook. Spanish Rice and Beef Soup is ready in 30 minutes.

Salad and bread, both brought directly from a supermarket, if desired, round out both of these soup suppers.

Other quick and easy beef recipes and tips are available in a free brochure from the Meat Board. The seven recipes are excerpts from "Skinny Beef" (Surrey Books Inc., 1993), a book with more than 100 recipes.

To receive the brochure of "Delicious Easy Beef Recipes," send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: Meat Board Test Kitchens, Department DEBR, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

15-MINUTE BEEF AND VEGETABLE SOUP

- 1 lb. beef round tip steaks, cut 1/8 to 1/4 inch thick
- 2 cans (about 14 oz. each) ready-to-serve beef broth
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1/4 tsp. dried leaf thyme
- Pinch pepper
- 1 pkg. (16 oz.) frozen potatoes, peas and carrots

Stack beef steaks. Cut lengthwise in 2 or 3 pieces, then crosswise in 1-inch-wide strips. Meat should be in small, very thin strips.

In medium saucepan, bring broth, garlic, thyme and pepper to boil. Add vegetables. Return to boil.

Stir beef into boiling soup. Immediately remove from heat. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes. Beef cooks while standing in hot liquid.

Good Health

By MELANIE POLK

Whole wheat steps up flavor, color and texture

When shopping for nutritional value, whole grain wheat wins against processed varieties of wheat. Not only are whole wheat products higher in dietary fiber than their "bleached" white counterparts, but they also contain more protein and important minerals, including calcium, iron and potassium. Whole wheat flour is available in two forms — stone ground and commercially milled. The former is coarser in texture, but both are equally healthful and both can be found in most supermarkets. Since whole wheat flour is more perishable than all-purpose (white) flour, it should be stored in the refrigerator, preferably in a glass container.

When baking with whole wheat flour, commercially milled varieties can replace all-purpose flour in equal proportions. With stone ground flour, substitute 1/2-cup for 1 cup white flour. In recipes for light-textured foods, such as cakes and some breads, combine about equal amounts of whole wheat and white flour.

Once a person is hooked on the flavor and texture of whole wheat foods, the next rung up the whole grain ladder is wheat berries. These grains of unprocessed whole wheat add definite crunch to baked goods. A deep russet brown in color, wheat berries are found primarily in natural food stores. They should be soaked overnight, then cooked partially or fully, depending on their further use. Boil 15 minutes for partially-cooked, 50 to 60 minutes for fully-cooked, to use in soup, stew, salad or bread.

Cracked wheat and bulgur are two other wholesome whole wheat variations.

Cracked wheat is uncooked wheat dried and cracked apart by coarse milling. Like wheat berries, it must be soaked overnight and cooked in advance.

THE LIGHT TOUCH

By Mark Lymboropoulos
Lectures, the new college freshman reported, are a lot like steer horns—a point here, a point there, and a lot of bull in between.
It's not really bad luck to have thirteen people seated at a table unless you're paying the check!
Poor guy—he didn't know enough to keep his mouth shut until he had his foot in it. The older we get, we find it takes half as long to get tired and twice as long to rest up!
Audience research: a radio station in the Midwest telephoned a thousand men and asked whom they were listening to. Almost 97 percent said they were listening to their wives.

Buying a used car shouldn't make you feel that way.

We've always thought the used car business could use a bit of a tune-up. So Saturn retailers are now selling Certified Used cars. Inspected and warranted used Saturns, sold with the same informative, no-pressure attitude as our new ones. Along with other used cars that go through the same kind of inspection as every Certified Saturn. Think of it as a used car experience that'll make you feel brand-new.

YOUR SOURCE FOR PROFESSIONAL CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Software measures employee progress

Management consultant Towers Perrin has launched Full Circle Feedback, a comprehensive, multisource performance assessment software package. The software can be an essential element in an overall program of multisource performance management, a different approach to managing, monitoring and improving employee performance. The Full Circle Feedback software helps organizations gauge employee performance more accurately by gathering input from a variety of sources, as opposed to the more traditional method of soliciting feedback solely from a supervisor or manager. Typically, the software is used to collect performance data from all of those who work with or for a particular employee, which might include internal or external customers, team members, co-workers or direct reports. "This new approach gets more people into the assessor pool," said Tom Fayek, Chicago-based leader of the firm's performance management consulting practice. This is important because organizations today need a very accurate picture of people performance. The more people who are involved in the process, the more reliable the assessment becomes. The Full Circle Feedback software features a computerized nomination, evaluation and reporting process, including the ability to generate generic or individualized assessment forms; a process that allows input of completely customized competencies tailored to the individual and the company that enables users to draw from 300 pre-established core competencies in 11 different categories; customized rating scales on the feedback instrument, as well as the capability to modify weights or values for different types of raters (e.g., giving more weight to a supervisor's evaluation than to a coworker's); clear, easy-to-understand feedback reports on individuals that include category cross-tabulations and competency rankings; and various demographic items (such as gender, job level, department, length of service, etc.) that can be selected for summary reports. For organizations that use the Full Circle Feedback software in a multisource assessment process, Towers Perrin also provides access to a service bureau of experts to help run the software, analyze the data and generate the performance evaluation reports. Training in the use of the software is also provided. Day-to-day management of the software gradually turned over to the organization as its people become more proficient in its use.
